Bark Disc Decoration with Dried Flowers

Instructions No. 2431

Difficulty: Advanced

Working time: 3 Hours

Are you looking for a wonderful gift or a great table decoration for yourself? Then these bark slices with dried flowers are just the thing. The dried flowers are inserted into small holes and ball towers and are thus presented in a great way. The different holes offer enough possibilities for variations.

This natural decoration is made as follows:

Paint some wooden balls as desired with craft paint. Tip: Use a bamboo skewer to hold them in place.

Now arrange the painted and unpainted balls into towers of different heights (the bamboo skewers can also be used to help hold the towers steady until they are glued together). Glue them together with craft glue. Make sure that the hole remains open so that the dried flowers can be inserted later.

Drill holes in the tree discs, e.g. with a Dremel drill, for branches and dried flowers. Fix them in the holes, if necessary with a little glue. If necessary, lightly mark the places where the balls are to be placed.

Glue the ball towers onto the branch discs with craft glue.

Now you can decorate the towers and holes with dried flowers as you like.
