

Bracelet with branding elements

Instructions No. 2670

🔪🔪🔪 Difficulty: Beginner

🕒 Working time: 30 Minutes

Create beautiful and modern bracelets with the burn painting craft technique. Thanks to the burning pen, you can burn in individual elements. With the metal tins you also have a nice alternative as a gift at the same time.

First draw a pattern on the wooden sticks with a pencil or take a template and transfer it with graphite paper.

Once you have applied the desired pattern to the spatulas, you can slowly trace the lines with the crayon. You can then erase the excess pencil lines.

Next, place the wooden spatulas in boiling water. Leave them there for at least 1 hour. Now carefully remove them from the water and place them in a round opening to dry (preferably overnight). A glass, cup or vase, for example, is best suited here, depending on the size of the wrist.

If you want to give the bracelets as a gift, a metal tin is ideal for this. All you need to do is stick kraft paper and natural paper on it. Then label a tag and tie it around/onto the tin. For the final touch, just put some straw silk in the box and place the bracelet on top.
