Step-by-step instructions: Decorative Christmas trees made from wooden discs

Preparation of the materials

Before you get started, you should make sure that you have all the materials you need to hand. Check your wooden discs and scatter decorations to make sure they are the right size and shape. Also warm up your hot glue so that you can get started straight away.

Building the fir tree

Start by connecting the individual wooden discs with the hot glue. Apply a small amount of glue to the edge of one disc and attach the next disc to it. Repeat this step until you have reached the desired height of your Christmas tree. Make sure that the discs are firmly attached.

Increase stability

To ensure the stability of your fir tree, you can apply some hot glue over the rear interfaces of the discs. This provides additional support and prevents tipping. Optionally, you can also attach additional wooden discs as support.

Creating the tree trunk

For the tree trunk, glue several smaller wooden discs on top of each other. Once you have reached the desired height, carefully attach the trunk to the underside of your fir tree. Make sure that the tree is stable.

Decoration

Now comes the creative part: decorate your Christmas tree to your heart's content. Attach scatter decorations and pine cones to the tree with hot glue. Whether you use natural or glittery elements is entirely up to you - let your imagination run wild!
