Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 4 Hours

Friendship bracelets are a great DIY idea to show someone or each other that you like each other. But it's also great fun to make bracelets simply for yourself. And especially in summer, it's a great it-piece for the wrist or as an anklet. These bracelets also go perfectly with the trendy boho look! Thin pearl bracelets are also a wonderful addition.

How to knot this beautiful bracelet:

First select your desired colours from the embroidery thread set. You will need two threads of each colour, approx. 1.20 m long. Take all the threads together and knot them at the end. Now braid the ribbons to make a plait about 7 cm long. For ease of working, it is best to stick the braid to a work surface with some washi tape or other adhesive tape.

Before you start knotting, sort the threads:

For our pattern, take one thread of each colour for each side. It is important that the same colour is on the outside of both sides, next to it again the same colour and so on. For example, yellow, apricot, pink, blue - blue, pink, apricot, yellow.

For clarification we explain the knotting process on our taken thread colours. If you have taken other colours, you will have to knot them accordingly.

Start with the yellow thread on the left side. Place it over the apricot thread and tie two knots. Then take the yellow thread and tie two knots on the pink ribbon. Then on the blue thread. Now take the yellow thread from the right side and repeat the steps. In the middle, tie both yellow ribbons with two knots as well.

Now take the left apricot-coloured thread and knot again to the middle, then the right thread and so on. Repeat this process until your bracelet has reached the desired length. Braid the end again and close it with a knot.

For the beaded bracelet, thread any rocailles onto the rubber cord and knot at the end.
