

Lampe mit Petticoat im 50er Jahre-Look

Instructions No. 767

The 50s was the time of the great divas. With skilfully used accessories you can revive this era and feel like a great lady. Petticoats and dots are an absolute must.

This lamp is a real design object. A stylish corsage dress is created from white dot fabric and matching accessories.

And so it goes

Prime the lampstand with white primer Handicraft paint

When dry, stick a velvet border around the base of the lamp and dab black over Handicraft paint it. Then remove the border again immediately.

Glue the satin lace around the lower edge of the lampshade.

Cut a sufficiently long strip of fabric which should reach loosely around the lower edge of the lampshade.

Cut the strip of fabric a little narrower than the height of the lampshade so that the lace is still visible at the bottom. Seam the edges with tape-Ribbon .

Gather the fabric strip and stick it around the upper edge of the lampshade with hot glue.

With the help of the template a Stencil finished one and Lamp foil cut the corsage out of it. Remove the protective foil, stick on the fabric and cut back

Stick the velvet border with tape-Ribbon behind the upper edge, folding it around the décolleté
Glue the corsage round and Lampshade put it on top of the corsage like a spout. Fix it with hot glue
Glue a belt of red and Satin ribbon black on the transition with tape-Ribbon .
Stick a small bow into the cleavage and hook the pendant into a loop of the velvet border
Finally, mount the finished Lampshade one on the lampstand using the threaded ring.
