Lavendelrispen aus Rocaille-Perlen

Instructions No. 374

Pearl blossoms are totally "in" and not at all difficult to make! For the dainty lavender panicles, decorative and rocaille beads are combined with Bugle beads and threaded on silver wire - the beginning of a passion. Since the pearl flowers fit especially well on a scented bag, this bag was designed to match the napkin motifs and lace.

It's that simple:

Cut a piece of silver wire about 30 cm long for each flower. Thread two dark purple Rocailles, then four decorative beads and again two Rocailles. Bend to a loop and twist the wire end behind the beads. Thread the same number of beads again, lay them to the loop and twist them as well. For a complete panicle work a third bow.

For the characteristic distance between the panicles, thread a pencil bead, then work as described above until the lavender flower has the desired size. For the flower stalk Bugle beads , thread any number of beads. Shorten the wire at the end to fit and bend it to the eyelet. To do this, bend the wire over the last Pearl at right angles to the side and roll it up to the eye with the round nose pliers.
