Great embroidery fun even for the inexperienced

The embroidery designs get their special effect, among other things, from the chosen fabrics and matching embroidery threads.

Golden metallic embroidery twist is perfect for embroidering on green fabric, and as a contrast, green embroidery thread is ideal for a natural-colored fabric. The embroidery thread is 6-thread count. This means it can be divided into 6 individual threads. For embroidery, we recommend dividing it into two strands of 3 threads each.

The outlines of the leaves on the embroidery pictures are available for download on the motif template. Print out the template and transfer the leaf motifs to the embroidery fabric. Use carbon paper or a line ex pen for this. Tension the fabric in the embroidery hoop so that the design is centered on the image. The more the fabric is stretched, the easier it will be to embroider.

You now embroider with a back stitch. This involves using the embroidery needle to "trace" the outline of the embroidery design with needle and thread:
First tie a knot in your embroidery thread, then begin the first stitch by piercing the fabric with the needle from bottom to top directly on the design line.
Then, run the needle through the fabric directly on the line "from top to bottom".
The next stitch is also placed directly on the outline from bottom to top. Each subsequent embroidery stitch is now placed on the contour line as closely as possible to the end of the last stitch, creating an embroidered line.

Once you have finished embroidering the design, secure the thread on the back of the image by passing the thread through the embroidery stitches made without the thread poking through the fabric.

How to turn the embroidery ring into a picture frame

Cut back the overhanging fabric about 2 cm outside the embroidery hoop and glue the edges into the embroidery hoops with craft glue or double-sided tape.
